

The Spooky Scarecrow (Halloween Story)

It all started with Mia the protagonist. She was walking to school on a Monday the day before Halloween she could have sworn she saw something similar to a face with a nasty witches hat with a dirty sewage rat on the hat with a strawish spooky face but before she could get a good glance it was gone 8.44am and she had English class.

She was in 5th year and the sums were only getting harder for some reason she couldn't read anything. All the letters were floating around on her page. She didn't know why. All of a sudden she sees a scarecrow peeking into the classroom for a split second, she rubbed her eyes and glanced again and it was gone, maybe I just didn't get enough sleep she thinks to herself. AFTER SCHOOL, she decides to go to the doctor.

They test her eyes and she has dyslexia but they don't know why she is seeing weird things and saying she should get some sleep, as she is leaving she can hear 2 doctors murmuring that she is crazy. They get into the car to go home. Finally we're home said Mia as she said that a scarecrow broke a window but she didn't know that at the time as she heard something smash she called for her mam but there was no answer so she quietly walks down the stairs from her bedroom and there's a giant SCARECROW SHE SCREAMS AND BOUNCES UP THE STAIRS till she locks herself in a bedroom and she can HEAR THE GIANT SCARECROW.

BOUNCING UP THE STAIRS AND POUNDING ON THE DOOR but Mia has a trick up her sleeve she has a spell book but it only works on scarecrows - what luck! All she has to do is distract the scarecrow she remembers that she has a toy car and a remote she has the remote the car is downstairs so she turns it on with the remote and makes lots of noises and the scarecrow is instantly alerted by all the ricochet and runs down the stairs while Mia runs out the toilet without alerting the monster into the bedroom and grabs the book the she walks slowly while thumping down the stairs with a smirk as she casts the spell scareosias! As it slowly disintegrates she waves goodbye!
